

Blessings to you all in this month of the Great Mother! And what a month we have in store, as the final eclipse in the Cancer/Capricorn series bestows us with a great opportunity to clear and release any core beliefs that are limiting our emotional safety and security!

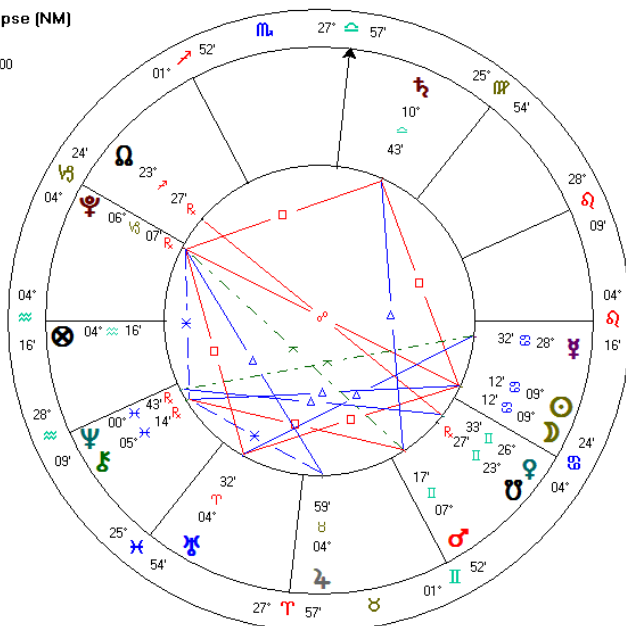

July 1st brings us a Solar Eclipse at 9 degrees Cancer. Yes I hear you say...but we just had an eclipse last month. Yes we did. June also leapt into action with a Solar Eclipse in Gemini followed mid month with a Lunar Eclipse in Gemini and opposite sign Sagittarius. So it's busy times here on planet earth with 2 sets of energies being triggered, which happens infrequently in the greater scheme of things.

This brings about one new set of doors opening as an old set is closing, as the July 1st eclipse in Cancer is the final eclipse in this 18 month series over the past few years. Family and career shifts and adjustments have thus been the feature in our individual and collective lives, as the as yet unresolved Global Financial Crisis has challenged us all to wake up to the reality of our broken material system. The Zeitgeist of fear is now pervading every aspect of global events as revolutions sweep the planet and the threat of chaos lurks in the shadow.

And yet I feel a great excitement also arising in equal measure. Crisis is the wind that feeds the wheel of change, and as we are now firmly in the passage of the Global Transformation Process, the potential for the shift in consciousness so necessary is also heating up.

The Cardinal Crisis

Solar Partial Eclipse (NM)
 Natal Chart
 1 Jul 2011, Fri
 6:53:54 pm AEST -10:00
 Southport, Australia
 27°S58' 153°E25'
 Geocentric
 Tropical
 Placidus
 True Node

The timing here is quite amazing as this eclipse...see the Sun and Moon together lower right in Cancer...completes a square, as it opposes Pluto in Capricorn – and Saturn up the top in Libra – and Uranus bottom left in Aries.

This is big in any astrologer's terms as solar eclipses trigger the planets involved with a great big kick to wake them up.

Since 2008 when Pluto entered Capricorn for the first time in 250 years he has been awaiting Uranus to join him so they can their dance of revolution and transformation over the next 4 years. Saturn in Libra since 2009 has already connected with Pluto forging the repressive and protectionist policies of tax payer funded bailouts for failing political and banking systems. The rich are continuing to protect the rich and pulling out all stops to try to keep the old systems under control. But it ain't working folks...or perhaps it is from their point of view.

So this eclipse heralds the beginning of the death/re-birth process that will swing into action from mid 2012 as Uranus squares Pluto exactly for the first time. Needless to say things could get pretty wobbly over the next few months as inner planets also pass through Cancer further triggering the action. By mid August as Mars in Cancer joins this point we may expect further decisions about further bailouts, or quite how they are going to allow Greece and other sovereign nations to go bankrupt. And goodness knows what else!

Mind you as these planets in Cancer/Capricorn/Libra connect with the Sun and Saturn in the USA Horoscope, and many planets in the horoscopes of Greece, Portugal, Spain, Italy, the UK and Australia it will be interesting to see how these countries continue to protect their own bankrupt positions.

Ye gad you need a sense of humour with all this stuff! It is quite amazing to me that the people who run our planet can continue to get away with their game. So we all need to keep a very healthy sense of curiosity and objectivity, as each day we clear our bodies and minds of the collective fear permeating the ethers! The sign of Cancer regulates the 'emotional body' in each of us and also collectively, and contains the principle of protection and nurture, and holds the key to our everyday happiness at an emotional level.

As we transmute our oldest instinctive fears of survival into the freedom of non-attachment a great revelation occurs, as we learn to be happy no matter what befalls us from the outside world. So now we get to really make the choice between fear and freedom as we invite our evolution into this new and exciting consciousness.

Meanwhile June's eclipses in Gemini/Sagittarius bring quicksilver expansion into our lives at last after this long period in the waiting room. These commence the next 18 month phase where we are free to move out into the world and share/gather knowledge to spread the word of positive new ideas and ideals to infuse the collective process. Keep those bags packed and be prepared for sudden shifts and changes of plan as you respond to the cosmos enlightening your world. Keep eyes and ears wide open, accept invitations to connect and get ready to talk and walk your walk. Very exciting stuff!!

So now to a quick rundown for all the signs...remember to read your Moon and Ascendant sign... and if you would like a personal rundown with me to support your shifts and do some "re-patterning" then drop me a line at www.universalastrology.com.au or connect at www.facebook.com/universalastrology#!maggie.m.kerr

Aries The Solar Eclipse on the July 1st triggers home/family/relationship/career new beginnings so be aware that over the next 6 months all of these zones involve some major shifts and readjustments. Think positive and let go of situations that are not serving you. Your ruler Mars in bizzy Gemini for the month brings about high energy movement and motivation re brilliant ideas, cool people to share them with, and spur of the moment trips. If you need to develop IT areas then this is your month, along with all forms of social networking to spread your word. Major financial moves are afoot early to mid month with cool karmic opportunities to grow your worth and wealth, with the caution to not overextend yourself or promise more than you can deliver.

Taurus With Jupiter now in your sign for the next 12 months think tres positive as you get out your best brave courageous suit or frock from your wardrobe and get ready to rock and roll. Your dollars zone is activated all month with a partnership alliance or contract on the 6th opening new doors, or a significant work phase development may also be afoot. The point here is that old stubborn cow attitudes will see you miss the boat...stay flexible and open to options, and if you hit resistance from folks along the way remember it may be you who needs to compromise. Communication is the key to your world right now with ideas and information triggering your transformation over the next 6 months.

Gemini Activator Mars in your sign for the month will keep you on your nimble toes and switch on those wings on your heels big time, so don't plan on too much time in your slippers. Increased confidence and vitality are on offer here with a caution to keep an ego check on your mouth and avoid verbal confrontations as you assert yourself into new directions. Meanwhile the eclipse on the July 1st triggers financial areas, with joint resource alliances or settlements closing doors on the past, or opening new ones. Control themes may emerge here so make sure you act in a fair and just manner in all your dealings as you release any old belief systems that are keeping you out of your power.

Cancer The solar eclipse in your sign on the 1st heralds the beginning of a new 19 year cycle in your life so think back to 1992 for clues...did you change careers or family structures then? With Uranus involved this time it is inevitable that revolution is in the air so resisting your urge to evolution and change well only cause stress and confusion. Remember cycles are born, grow, express and then must die so new cycles can be born. It's much more exciting and fun to say "yes bring on the new" and have a positive ride on the wave of change. Your psyche is very busy behind the scenes bringing in new ideas and gestating this new you, so take time to reflect and dream and project your thoughts to envision your new world.

Leo The growth on offer from this months planets may feel a little daunting at times, and you'll need to keep taking deep breaths to keep body and mind strong so you can dare to take a major leap of faith into the future and believe that you can pull it off. Yes you can, and it's all about your work and service path from here. Projects that you have been working hard to create over the past few years are on the move now with dynamic energies from groups and organisations all set to support outcomes over the next 12 months. July's eclipse opens your leadership potential to teach and uplift the philosophies that underpin the 'new consciousness', so go for it dear lions and you can also have some serious fun on the way!!

Virgo Your career zone now receives a big kick forward from Mars in July for the first time in 2 years, so brush away the cobwebs of the past as you revitalize your hopes and aspirations for success into your future. With Gemini involved its all about ideas, information, IT and being risky, so put all of these words together and off you go. You are the organisers and planners of our world who must introduce new progressive systems to replace old broken ones so now it's time to dare to share your ideas and believe that people will listen. As your financial zones are also activated from the eclipse on the 1st be vigilant in observing global financial trends and make sure you are ahead of the 'game'. Indeed this is where your innovative ideas are meant to be employed, so let go of past conditions and implement new ones.

Libra All that hard work to keep the family 'show on the road' last month may have left you drained at times and wondering about life, love and all that stuff! Take heart my friends as Mars now invigorates your life with a much more positive attitude and outlook throughout July. Training or travel is on offer to add to your development. Any confusion or self-doubt you've been experiencing lately should be clearing and you'll be starting to feel a lot more decisive about things. July's solar eclipse in your career sector brings a profound re-orientation phase where you need to align your goals with your true nature and really commit your energy and be happy to keep doing a few more hard miles...it will be worth it.

Scorpio So what do you really believe in dear Eagles? What motivates your purpose for life...how do you empower yourself with this? A major psychological review is currently underway that began a few years ago and now receives a major kick from the July 1st Solar Eclipse in your house of philosophies/ethics and morals...to use traditional Astro speak. So a renovation of your ideas and ideals is the call here and this involves seeking new teachings or travel to broaden your horizons. Our world is all smoke and mirrors and you must look deeper than the surface view we are fed by media and spin doctors. It's also time to get heroic and work with completely new ideas and innovations to renovate your work arena.

Sagittarius This is a highly creative motivational month kids, which builds upon progress that started kicking in a few weeks ago and will fulfil itself by later month with great outcomes. Planes and automobiles will feature with professional areas highlighted involving that thing you love to do much...talk and teach. Or at least take advantage of the PR goodies on offer by selling yourself up to further your cause. Meanwhile the Solar Eclipse awakens your 'joint resource' sector so expect encounters of the supportive kind with powerful people, or deep and meaningful kind with your lover. New joint financial agreements can also emerge from this mix as you are now ready to step into your power to manifest...whatever you want!

Capricorn Your daily work systems are in an upwardly mobile phase this month with lots of connecting both by word and deed to fire up some new beginnings. And lets face it any way to stimulate some excitement is a good call right now, as life hasn't been too easy over the past few years and you're probably fed up with being such a good responsible goat. July's Solar eclipse opens a fresh 19 year phase and as you are the builders of our world it's important to remind you that all this work has purpose not just for you but for the world around you. So hang in there and be courageous just a little bit longer, and make sure you laugh and have some fun on the way. The urge for freedom with partners and family will bring further big changes.

Aquarius The good news is that even though you know there is some pressure to re-invent your daily work area, you also know that you have all the ingredients in place to do this. So you just have to keep that spirit burning brightly and manage any 'not good enough' self talk and July will be an excellent month ...got it!! And re-invention is definitely seeding now courtesy of the Solar Eclipse triggering a new 19 year cycle, so keep working on the details for the systems you need to put in place before the end of this year. Then watch out 2012 'cause here you come! There's also lots of fun and socialising along the way in July as you reach out, make fresh connections and enjoy the big world that awaits you after the quiet times of late.

Pisces Reinvigorating the home scene is where your energy needs to go throughout July so dust off those power tools and use this highly charged planet-scape to get all the chores up to date. Some of you will move house under this influence or kids and others are ready to fly away, so make sure everyone is free to get what they need without conflict for all concerned. Your larger transformational process for 2011 involves aligning your value systems and your creativity, and to this end July's Solar Eclipse brings a new beginning that can empower you in the long term by working with community, society, or humanity in some way to bring about change and reform. Financial re-structuring continues to be high on the agenda.

Email: maggiekerr@universalastrology.com.au
Website: www.universalastrology.com.au (lots of free articles)
Facebook: www.facebook.com/universalastrology#!maggie.m.kerr
Phone: 0755 945959

Enjoy the ride folks...and stay cool!